

POTOMAC ANGLERS CLUB ASSISTS IN STOCKING STREAMS

Will Aid in Prosecution For Illegal Fishing Methods.

HARDHEADS BITING

New Rod and Gun Club in Alexandria Shows Rapid Growth.

By DICK PEED.

The Potomac Anglers Club is an active organization and all lovers of the rod and reel should lend encouragement to the organization by joining. They have aided in stocking streams in the District and surrounding territory with game fish and will assist in the prosecution of the commercial fisherman for the use of illegal methods. Some of them resort to dynamiting or taking fish out of season from their spawning beds. Such methods would soon deplete the streams of all kinds of fish.

A nice picture of a good catch is always interesting. Send in the names of the members of the fishing party and the story of the outing as an exhibit to your friends of your good luck.

Capt. Bob Martin, of the Government Printing Office, in adding a glass cabin to his power boat "The Bell," in anticipation of a big fishing season principally at Colonial Beach.

Emil Haar, Ben Harding, Dr. Pandall Parsons, Louis Griffith, Charles Porter, Al Heffner, Albert Beigler and H. K. Deckman composed a party that motored to Benedict today for a try for hardheads. They found the fish ready to strike and returned with 110 in their baskets. Green shrimp and bloodworms were used for bait.

Tommy Wright and Douglas Watson were on the water near Fletcher's Sunday. They were successful taking a nice basket of white perch.

The Potomac Anglers Club is discussing plans to build a commodious clubhouse at some nearby point on the Potomac.

Alexandria has a new rod and gun club that is growing rapidly and promises good work in planting and protecting both fish and game.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Representative George M. Bowers, of West Virginia, and others are deadlocked over the appointment of a successor to Dr. Smith, who recently retired from the post of director of the Bureau of Fisheries. In the meantime Acting Director Leach is filling the office acceptably. His friends are hoping that Mr. Leach will prove a solution to the problem and ultimately be chosen for this important position.

Norman Harrell, of Arlington, Va., was fined $100 by Justice McCoy a short time ago for netting fish in the waters of the District of Columbia. Virginia has long been granting licenses to net fish opposite the District and the case settles the dispute, unless the decision is reversed by a higher court.

Contractors building the roadway leading to Chesapeake Beach promise completion of the highway early in May.

West Virginia has awakened to the fact that her one-time great supply of game fish is approaching extinction and has ordained a closed season for trout and bass for a period of five years.

Ernest Angerman, L. O. Shively, William Trowbridge and William Shinn have purchased a ten acre tract of land on Nanjemoy Creek and will erect a fishing bungalow at an early date.

Capt. Charles G. Simons built for himself during the winter a new fishing boat which shows excellent workmanship in every respect. It is equipped with an outboard motor of the Elto type and has been christened "Osprey."

A bill now before Congress sets aside numerous spawning grounds and fish sanctuaries along the Atlantic coast from Maine to Florida from which neither net nor hook and line fisherman will be allowed to take fish.

Give Me Life Here, Depew Tells Doyle

"Mean to Stay Long as I can" He Declares on 88th Birthday Eve.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Well satisfied with this world, Chauncey M. Depew declared today "I mean to stay in it as long as I can."

Tomorrow the former United States Senator celebrates his eighty-eighth birthday.

The theories of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, now lecturing on spiritualism in this country, may be all very well, according to Depew who prefers, he says, rather to live his life in this world and live it to the full. Epitomizing his long and busy life, he said there were three messages he wished to give the young people of the land:

1. A confident religious faith.

2. Capacity for hard work.

3. Moderation.

Predicts Record Ford Car Production in May

DETROIT, April 22.—All previous production records of the Ford Motor Company will be smashed during the month of May with 120,000 cars scheduled, Edsel Ford announced today.

This schedule means a new car will be made every 6 1/2 seconds for the twenty-seven eight-hour work days.

The highest previous production record was last August, when 40,000 employees turned out 109,000 cars. Payroll figures show there are now 37,000 workers at the Highland Park plant employed five days a week.
